Terms and Conditions of Offer of Admission and Acceptance

TEACHERS COLLEGE

COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY

OFFICE OF ADMISSION

Please read this document carefully.

Your offer of admission is contingent upon satisfying these conditions:

1. Satisfactory completion of any courses and degree programs in progress. You are responsible for satisfying any unfinished requirements for your current courses and degree programs prior to matriculation.

If you are currently an undergraduate student, your bachelor's degree must be conferred prior to your matriculation at Teachers College.

2. We must receive final and official transcripts directly from each college and university from which you have received academic credit prior to matriculation at Teachers College. Transcripts that you uploaded to your online application are considered unofficial, and official transcripts must be submitted. The final transcript from your primary undergraduate institution must show that your undergraduate degree has been conferred and the date of graduation.

3. If you have been convicted of, or pled guilty or no contest to, any felony that you did not disclose when you applied to Teachers College, or if there are felony charges now pending against you, you must inform the College immediately by submitting the Criminal Background Form <http://www3.tc.columbia.edu/admit/conduct.asp>. A criminal history does not necessarily disqualify you from enrollment at Teachers College, but is something that the College must take into consideration.

4. Your admission is subject to your academic program's guidelines as set in the Academic Catalog. Use the catalog as a resource and reference.

5. In order to reserve your position at Teachers College, you must indicate your intention to enroll by completing the Enrollment Response Form and providing your enrollment deposit by the response deadline. If you wish to withdraw from Teachers College, please note that your deposit is non-refundable.

In an effort to be considerate to wait-listed candidates, please decline your offer promptly if you are certain that you will not attend.
